WILLITE PATENT
INVALID, JUDGE FARIS DECIDESInjunction Suit of Western Co. Against the Trinidad Asphalt Concern Dismissed in Federal Court.RULING LIKELY TO CUT PAVING COSTSCourt Says Process of Making Willite Compound Had Been Used Before Firm Obtained Rights.

The patent of the Western Willite Co. for the manufacture of the Willite paving material, a mixture of asphalt and copper sulphate, was declared invalid in a decision rendered today by Federal Judge Faris. He dismissed the injunction suit of the Willite Co. against the Trinidad Asphalt Co., and ruled that the process of making the Willite compound is not patentable, because it had been used by other makers before the patent was obtained.

The decision, unless reversed on appeal, will mean that the Trinidad Asphalt Co., or any other asphalt paving concern may use the formula of the Willite makers, for a mixture of asphalt and copper sulphate, as a paving material. It will mean, further, that the Willite company cannot claim a royalty from other companies using the process. Such a claim, in the past few years, has tended to add to the cost of this material for paving.

Temporary Writ Issued Oct. 5.

A temporary injunction was granted by Judge Faris Oct. 5 last, on the application of the Willite Co., restraining the Trinidad Co. from infringing on the Willite patent in the paving of Meramec street, for the half-mile from Thirteenth street to Gravois avenue. The case was heard on its merits later, and in the course of the argument the history of highway and street paving as far back as the days of ancient Rome was discussed. One of the instances cited in the argument was the form of street construction known by the excavations in the buried Italian city of Pompeii.

The Trinidad company's charge as to the previous use of the Willite formula did not run back to the last days of Pompeii, but it did undertake to show that the mixing of asphalt with copper sulphate, to make a hard-surface pavement, had been practiced for more than 40 years.

Process Deemed Not Original. Judge Faris was convinced, by the testimony introduced in behalf of the Trinidad Co., that the process was not novel, and therefore, was not patentable, and that the patent was void on the ground of anticipation by others.

In December, 1922, the Willite company took President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service, and Director Fisk of the Streets and Sewers Department, to Los Angeles and showed them the roads made with Willite in Southern California. The two city officials reported, after their return, that they were convinced that Willite was a superior material, and in the 1924 street paving program that material was specified for more than one-fourth of the work to be done.

Omitted From New Contracts. Publication of the facts as to the Willite company claim of a monopoly on the process, with comparisons of the cost and that of other processes, caused complaint from some property owners, and contractors charged that the Central Paving and Construction Co. got an "inside" price on the material, so that other concerns could not compete for contracts where Willite was specified.

Following the controversy over the use of Willite, the Board of Public Service three weeks ago decided not to specify Willite in any of this year's contracts. The chief reason assigned for this decision was that the board wished time to observe the Willite streets already laid in St. Louis, before deciding whether the compound was perfectly adapted to the St. Louis climate and traffic requirements.

Willite Will Not Affect City's Paving Progress, Kinsey Says. President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service said the decision of Judge Faris in holding the Willite patent void would in no way affect the city's paving program, as the city is not concerned who lays the Willite pavement so long as the specifications as to the ingredients are observed.

Two-Way Conversation Between Ship and LandGerman Wireless Device Permits Passengers and Persons on Shore to Speak Interchangeably.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 3.—Wireless telephone conversation between passengers on different ships at sea, and with persons on land has been carried on simultaneously for the first time.

The appliance, a German invention, was brought into port yesterday by the North American Lloyd liner Columbus. Mrs. Morris Sampson of New York was one of the first to use the new method of communication, when she talked from the Columbus to her sister, Mrs. Emil Berolzheimer, widow of a brother of City Chamberlain Philip Berolzheimer, aboard the liner Deutschland, 150 miles away. Mrs. Sampson said she recognized her sister's voice distinctly. They talked for eight minutes on fashion and current events. The charge was $2.50.

Carl Gerstung, chief wireless operator of the ship, said he talked from sea with officers of the Telefonen company, which controls the patents at Norddeich, Germany, and that his message was relayed over land telephone wires to the interior.

An official of the company in Berlin said that the chief interest in the experiments from the Columbus lay in the fact that for the first time messages were spoken both ways simultaneously and interchangeably.

The apparatus is a duplex sending and receiving set, operating on a wave length of 1800 or 1400 meters. When one person finished speaking, the current of the sending apparatus was switched off in an instant and the receiving apparatus turned on to receive the reply.

NORWEGIAN CROWDS

Coast to Oslo.

By the Associated Press.
OSLO, Norway, July 3.—Roald Amundsen, leader of the aerial expedition which recently attempted to reach the North Pole by planes from Spitzbergen, is making triumphal progress down the west coast of Norway. At every port large numbers of beflagged boats, with cheering crowds on them, met and accompanied the Albert W. Selmer, on which Amundsen is a passenger. At Alesund Mrs. Hageman, sister of Lief Dietrichson, one of Amundsen's pilots, presented Amundsen with a bouquet of red Norwegian roses.

Laurits S. Swenson, the American Minister to Norway, will be unable to attend the reception to Amundsen when he reaches Oslo. Mr. Swenson departed for Bergen with King Haakon and the Premier to attend the funeral of former Premier Michelsen, who died several days ago, which is to be an occasion for national mourning. After the funeral Swenson will proceed to Stavanger to unveil a monument commemorating the sailing of the first Norwegian immigrants to the United States.

By the Associated Press.
LAKEHURST, N. J., July 3.—The dirigible Shenandoah left the naval air station at 3:15 Eastern standard time, on her flight to Bar Harbor, Me. The ship was headed direct for Providence, R. I., and was in charge of Commander Lansdowne.

The ship headed into a 17-mile north wind which was expected to delay her arrival at Bar Harbor until 9 or 10 p. m. Plans to sail over Swampscott were abandoned and Albert Starr, parachute jumper, was not aboard. The Shenandoah carried 40 men and officers, three observation officers and a photographer.

A NATION BY HIMSELF,

Kerensky Regime Awarded Verdict on War Munitions.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 3.—Serge Ughet, who is a great sovereign nation, all by himself, has won a court verdict for $853,000, and when he gets the money apparently he may spend it as he pleases. He is the sole diplomatic survivor of the Kerensky Government, which he represented as the representative of the "State of Russia."

In this capacity he sued the Lehigh Valley Railroad for destruction of a shipment of war munitions, bought by the czar's Government, in the Black Tom Island explosion July 30, 1916. Federal Judge Mack yesterday directed a $853,000 verdict in Ughet's favor, upsetting previous decisions.

Ughet says he is going to pay the money to the United States Treasury as part of the Kerensky war debt.

Agents of the Soviet Government, however, threaten to petition for a receiver. They say the money is going for a counter-revolution under Grand Duke Nicholas.

Ughet says he is found by a "gentleman's agreement" to pay the money to the United States. The railroad's attorney will appeal the verdict.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Dean Onativia & Co., brokers, was placed in the hands of a receiver, the Chicago Title & Trust Co. today. The firm, with headquarters in New York, has been well known in stock and grain circles.

The brokerage firm held membership in the New York Stock Exchange, New York Cotton Exchange, New York Produce Market, Chicago Stock Exchange, Chicago Board of Trade and the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce.

Resident partners of the firm include Emanuel F. Rosenberg and Edward S. Rosenberg, long prominent in the grain trade, and J. Clark Dean.

A statement issued by Winston, Strawn & Shaw, attorneys for Dean, Onativia & Co., said:

"The failure of Dean, Onativia & Co. is not attributed to any unusual market condition or to the depreciation in value of any of the listed securities traded in by that firm, but for some time the firm has been carrying on their books, the stocks of some corporations which are not actively traded in on the Stock Exchange and for which the market is slow."

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 3.—The failure of the New York Stock Exchange firm of Dean Onativia & Co. was announced today by the president of the exchange.

The firm was organized in 1922. It has branches in Chicago, Plainsfield, N. J., and Washington, D. C. An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was later filed against the firm on the petition of three employees.

Statement of Firm's Counsel. Liabilities of the insolvent house were estimated at slightly more than $30,000,000, with assets of between $30,000,000 and $35,000,000, in a statement issued by Gilman and Unger, New York counsel for the firm.

"The difficulties arose," said the lawyers, "from the fact that in the account of customers, Dean Onativia & Co. were carrying 45,000 shares of stock of a company which was a subsidiary of the Grain Marketing Corporation of Chicago. This stock has been quoted and carried around $50 a share. "Under the requirement of the Illinois law, it was necessary to have 51 per cent of the stock of the Grain Marketing Corporation to be sold by July 1 because it was a co-operative association. It is said that it will be necessary to unscramble the Grain Marketing Corporation and its subsidiaries."

Chicago lawyers called the loan of Dean Onativia & Co. and it was impossible for them to meet their obligations this morning."

J. Victor Onativia Jr. is the principal New York partner and member for the firm. Other partners include J. D. Cady and Ira E. Westheimer.

Liabilities About $29,000,000. The petition in involuntary bankruptcy placed the liabilities of the firm at approximately $29,000,000 and alleged its assets were almost wholly the property of its customers and were pledged to various banks.

Stromberg, Allen & Co., the Twenty-Ninth Street Press and Harold Pickert were the petitioning creditors who sought the receivership and also asked that the matter be placed in the hands of a referee. Only small claims were filed by the three creditors.

It was alleged in the petition that the company committed an act of bankruptcy by the payment of $22,000 to Charles J. Trotman on July 1.

The failure was reflected in the grain market, where it was estimated that about 2,000,000 bushels supposed to have been held for the accounts of Dean Onativia & Co. was sold out in the pits and depressed prices somewhat.

Men Reach White Court.

By the Associated Press.
SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 3.—Mrs. Coolidge barely escaped being run down by a motor cycle this morning when returning to White Court from a walk about Swampscott, a leap to the side of the road saving her.

She was returning to White Court and had just turned into the private driveway, when four members of the State Constabulary, on motor cycles, turned into the lane behind her. Driving at a fast clip, according to witnesses, the motor cycle officers were behind her almost before anyone was aware.

The grinding of brakes and a yell by James Haley, her Secret Service escort, gave Mrs. Coolidge her only warning and as she jumped to one side of the road the leading machine shot between her and Haley.

The motor cycle detachment, which was coming to White Court to escort the President to Cambridge, proceeded to the summer White House without stopping.

Slightly shaken up by the incident, Mrs. Coolidge continued home.

Mrs. Coolidge is in the habit of walking about the vicinity in the morning, and in this particular place she is forced to use the roadway. At the head of this road an officer is stationed. Joan Bryson, who was there this morning, said he attempted to signal the motor cycle police as they swerved into this road. It was too late, however, and only quick action by Mrs. Coolidge and her Secret Service man prevented an accident.

President Leads a Parade at Cambridge.

By the Associated Press.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3.—President Coolidge arrived in Cambridge from Swampscott at 1:35 p. m. daylight saving time, today, to lead and later review a parade ending at Cambridge common, where Washington took command of the Continental army 150 years ago.

A presidential salute was fired from army cannon as the President's automobile approached the Walker memorial building on the Massachusetts Institute of Technology campus where the parade started.

Chief of Police McBridge, estimated that 150,000 persons were in the city to see the parade. A detail of 200 Boston police and eight mounted officers was on hand to control the crowds.

The President will be 53 years old tomorrow.

Among the first to extend birthday greetings at Swampscott today were the Campfire Girls, a delegation of whom called at White Court today to present 25,000 birthday cards from members. Virginia Anderson of Brooklyn, N. Y., made the presentation to the President on the lawn of the summer White House. She was accompanied by representatives of the organization from Boston and nearby towns. An elaborate birthday cake also was left for the executive mansion this morning by Mrs. Harriet McAdoo of Saugus Springs, Mass.

Mrs. Leah Witten Cash and Miss Ethelyn Witten, daughters of Witten, and Misses Ruby Thomas and Sadie Richardson were the four women who attended the execution. They were admitted to the death chamber as newspaper representatives. It was the first time women ever witnessed an execution in the state.

The reconstruction commission was in session in the city hall at the time of the shock and in the rush to get from the building City Manager Hebert Nunn slipped and fell on the stairway. He was taken home.

St. Anthony's College and the St. Francis Hospital, which were badly damaged in last Monday's earthquake, suffered little additional damage. Both are still standing. In one or two places plumbing was wrecked and broken, but the power lines and gas pipes that had been repaired were not disturbed.

There was another shock at 10:21 a. m. It was less violent than the earlier one and lasted only two seconds.

There was a third slight shock at 10:41 a. m.

By the Associated Press.
SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 3.—Santa Barbara was rocked again by a heavy earthquake at 8:38 a. m. today. The shock lasted about six seconds and shook the city rather violently.

The vibration, consisting of two shocks, appeared to be from east to west and swayed the buildings perhaps more severely than any of the shocks following the major disturbances of last Monday morning. Occupants of buildings rushed into the open for safety.

The home of C. K. G. Billings, wealthy race horse man, on one of the hills just east of the city, was shaken badly by the tremor today, but did not collapse. Considerable plaster and brick coping fell, but the damage is not serious.

Along State street where workmen are clearing away debris, bricks fell.

At the old mission also some bricks and mortar tumbled.

Few Persons Bruised. A few persons who were working in wrecked or damaged buildings were bruised in their scramble to get out.

The city officials report that the city hall, which escaped practically undamaged in the first shock Monday, suffered a little in this morning's quake. Several large cracks appeared in the walls, but the damage is not serious.

SUPREME COURT
ACQUITS MILLMEN
OF ST. LOUIS IN ANTITRUST SUIT16 Planing Mill Companies, Named by Barrett in Ouster Action, Found Not Guilty of Price Fixing"NO RESTRAINT OF FREE COMPETITION"Justice Blair's Opinion Hints at Possibility of Unlawful Practices by Organization.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 3.—The 16 planing mill companies now or formerly holding membership in the St. Louis Millmen's Association were found not guilty of charges of violating the State antitrust laws by alleged price fixing and restraint of free competition, in a decision handed down today by the Supreme Court en banc.

The court held that the charges of conspiracy by association members to restrain competition, fix prices and control the manufacture and sale of millwork in St. Louis and St. Louis County had not been satisfactorily proved by the State, and ordered the discharge of the 16 defendants.

Former Attorney-General Jesse W. Barrett instituted the suit in Supreme Court in 1921. In the form of a quo warranto proceeding, and sought to have the companies fined and ousted from business in Missouri.

No Violation of Statutes. Judge David E. Blair, who wrote the opinion, declared the evidence did not show that the operations of the association or the planing Bureau it maintained, and the cost guide supplied to association members, were in violation of the antitrust laws.

He held that the plan and the practices of the respondents (millmen) in the creation and operation of the St. Louis Millmen's Association and the Planing Mill Listing Bureau constitute no violation of the statutes. Judge Blair wrote: "It may be that, by secret arrangement and by the use of the organizations, respondents might be engaged in the unlawful practices denounced by our statutes, but neither (Barrett) has not shown that this has been done. Possibility or suspicion alone is not sufficient."

Only Acquittal in 3 Cases. This is the final case, and the only acquittal, of three anti-trust suits instituted in 1921 by Barrett against three associations of building material dealers in St. Louis, following an investigation by the Post-Dispatch of the high prices of building materials in St. Louis.

The St. Louis Lumber Association, the St. Louis Material Dealers' Association. The Supreme Court, July 28, 1923, found the 19 members of the Lumber Trade Exchange guilty of price fixing and restraint of trade, imposed fines aggregating $85,000, and ordered dissolution of the exchange. The court ordered the 19 lumber companies ousted from the State, but later suspended the ouster pending good behavior.

Settlement of the material dealers' case was effected July 2, 1924, when the Missouri Portland Cement Co. agreed to pay a fine of $27,500 and accept a decree of ouster, the ouster order to be suspended during good behavior. The Continental Cement Co., no longer in business, agreed to pay a fine of $10,000. Both fines were paid. These two companies assumed responsibility for the 12 smaller companies which were named as defendants, and later were discharged without fines.

Defendants Affected by Decision. Defendants acquitted by the decision of the court today are the Carondelet Planing Mill Co., Crescent Planing Mill Co., John M. Darr & Sons Planing Mill Co., Fox Brothers Manufacturing Co., Gravois Planing Mill Co., Huttig Bush & Door Co., Kirkwood Bush & Door Co., Mechanics Planing Mill Co., Missing Planing Mill Co., North St. Louis Planing Mill Co., Read & Stage Bush & Door Co., Riddle-Rehlin Manufacturing Co., Frank Schmidt Planing Mill Co., Thompson Planing Mill Co., Charles E. Dorr Planing Mill Co. and The Wellston Planing Mill Co.

The Huttig company, John M. Darr & Sons and The North St. Louis Planing Mill Co. are still in business.

TEN PERSONS ARE OVERCOME BY HEAT

One Death From Conditions Aggravated by It, Two Men Hurt.

Ten persons were overcome by the excessive heat here yesterday and taken to the city hospital. The condition of a youth who died at Alexian Brothers' Hospital yesterday was aggravated by the heat.
Two persons were injured yesterday indirectly because of the heat.
The maximum temperature yesterday was 92.2 at 2:45 p. m., but the whole day, between 9 a. m. and 9 p. m., saw thermometers in the 90's. This was the highest temperature attained here this year and the maximum ever led the record of July 2 in past years. The mercury did not drop out of the 80's over night and this morning it began a new upward climb. The forecast was for somewhat cooler weather tonight and tomorrow with local thunderstorms probable tonight.

Six of the persons overcome yesterday were negroes, two of whom were women. Most of the prostrations occurred in the afternoon and evening.
John Crestani, 19 years old, of 5345 Shaw avenue, died at Alexian Brothers' Hospital at 10 a. m. yesterday from chronic heart disease and fever caused by the heat. A report to the coroner of a post mortem examining of his body expressed this with the phrase, "Thermic fever, complicated by chronic endocarditis," and also that Crestani had suffered from chronic gastritis and Bright's disease.

Those who were taken to the city hospitals for heat prostration treatment are:
Oscar Newton, 32, a chef, of 3920 Rutger street, taken from 3513 Davis street; Charles Kren, 47, of 2295 South Tenth street, taken from Fourth street and Lucas avenue; working conditions and hours le-made subject to collective bargaining.

Wages of cutters were to be advanced from $25 to $30 a week to $47 and of trimmers to $43 a week.
A general increase of 25 per cent was to be granted to shop employees and a minimum of $16 a week for learners was to be established. Time and a half for overtime was demanded. Sanitation of shops was to be improved.
Members of the union declare that discussion never went beyond the first demand. They were told by Curlee that he would not treat with them as members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.
Scope of the Strike.
The union declares that 700 of 1000 Curlee employees left their workplace yesterday. The company asserts that the number is fewer by several hundred.
The strike is being conducted by representatives of the national union which has headquarters in Chicago. A newspaper has intimated that these men are in some way connected with bolshevism and I. W. W. Men. The men point out that, with the American Federation of Labor, their union is opposed to bolshevism and especially anything that savors of I. W.
W.
They assert for their union the following facts and characteristics:

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING ISSUE IN CURLEE STRIKE

Clothing Company Chosen Because of Its Size by Organizers in Effort to Unionize Clothing Industry Here.

After a month, the strike of employees of the Curlee Clothing Co. has resolved itself into a struggle to determine whether the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, a strong national union of workers in the manufacture of men's clothing, shall penetrate the industry in St. Louis.
The strikers, new joiners of the union, have demands affecting wages and working conditions, but seem ready to postpone these if they can commit the Curlee company to collective bargaining and can establish their union as the agency for the bargaining. The strikers are being paid from $7 to $12 a week, according to their needs, by the national union, and profess readiness for an endurance test.

The union's activity in St. Louis began last October, the Curlee company being picked because of its size.
The company employs more than 1000 workers in two large plants and distributes its clothing nationally. It required until June 1 for E. T. Oliver of Chicago, an organizer for the union, to muster what seemed to him to be sufficient strength to warrant demands upon the Curlee company.

On that date, demands were sent to S. H. Curlee, president of the company, by registered mail. Allowing sufficient time for delivery, a committee of employees who had joined the union waited upon Curlee.

Heading the demands was that "the Amalgamated Clothing Workers be recognized as representing your employees." The second was that all questions affecting wages, working conditions and hours be
ing.

$47 and of trimmers to $43 a week.
A general increase of 25 per cent
week for learners was to be estab-
time was demanded. Sanitation of
shops was to be improved.
the first demand. They were told

FOUNDRY WORKERS QUIT OVER DISPUTE ON WAGE AGREEMENT

Belleville Stone Mounters and Pattern Makers Demand Renewal to Run a Year.

Stone Mounters and pattern makers employed in Belleville foundries which are affiliated with the Belleville Manufacturers' Association have declared a suspension of work effective July 1, because of the expiration of their wage agreement with the employers. New agreements have been signed by plants independent of the association, but most of the larger shops are affected by the suspension.
No changes in wages are sought but the two sides are unable to agree over the length of the proposed new agreement, the men asking for a year's time and the employers for six months. Efforts to bring about a settlement failed and a suspension of work was called.

Elmer E. Walters of 5217 Not-next month, beginning Monday, in the absence of Judge Rosecan, who will be away on a fishing trip.

Intimidating pickets with severe personal violence, and threats of violence.
Chief of Police Gerk said yesterday that the strikers were not restraining themselves to peaceful picketing, but were threatening working employees, assaulting them or annoying them in a way to constitute a peace disturbance. No arrests other than for actual disturbances have been made, he said.

The Curlee company yesterday applied to Federal Court for an injunction forbidding illegal picketing. Judge Davis granted a temporary restraining order forbidding unlawful picketing and interference with the company's business and set next Thursday as the time for a hearing to determine whether an injunction shall be issued.

street, whose wife is Mrs. Boemler's adopted daughter.

to Check Up Those Who Failed to File Return.

CITY ASSESSOR TO CO-OPERATE IN TASK

Collector Koeln Preparing Suits Against Persons Who Made Reports, but Who Have Not Paid Tax.

The listing of persons who have failed to make returns under the State income tax law, and the filing of suits against those who, having made returns, are delinquent in payment, will begin within the next week.

Five representatives of the State Auditor's office will begin next Thursday the task of checking up persons with taxable incomes who have failed to make returns as required by law. City Assessor Ge-hner, who is the official charged with the obtaining of returns here, will co-operate with them. Koeln in settlement of disputes with employers. They say that they have provided arbitration boards on which the workers and employers are represented in equal number with an outsider for odd member for the settlement of all disputes.
They declare this is the form of adjustment among workers in St.
Louis. A form they say that has benefited employers as well as employees elsewhere.

In Chicago, particularly, they assert, they have tranquilized the clothing industry, long in a chaos of strikes, lockouts and sweat shop conditions, by adoption of this machinery for arbitration.

Claims of the Company.

The Curlee company holds that its relations with its employees were tranquil and harmonious until these union began its secret organizing and that now, many of its employees who have remained at work have declared their unwillingness to remain if the union is recognized.
Curlee declines at this time to discuss the trouble further.
Disturbances resulting in 300 arrests of strikers have occurred at Curlee plants at Tenth street and Washington avenue and Twenty-first and Locust streets since the calling of the strike. The strikers threw picket lines about these places and as usual under such conditions clashes have occurred almost daily at the time of the going to or coming from work of those employees who have not joined the strike.

The strikers declare that their picketing has been a lawful and orderly effort to persuade those still at work to join them, but that in their exuberance and excitability their younger members—boys and girls in their teens—have shouted and made noise that on occasions might be construed as peace disturbance.

Charges Against P.

They accuse the police of being unnecessarily rough in making arrests, with a seeming determination to break up all picketing whether unlawful or not and with Man in New York Talks to Havana 33 Minutes and Fills Box With Change.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 3.—A man speaking with a Spanish accent asked for long distance Havana from a telephone pay station at Broadway and Eighty-second street. He wanted a number in Havana and showed no concern when the operator told him it would cost $13.60 for three minutes.
He talked 33 minutes and was told his conversation would cost him $105.16 more. He stuffed quarters and dimes into the box until it would hold no more. The operator asked him to wait while she sent up a collector.
When the collector arrived the man was gone. About the same time a taxicab dashed up to 24 Broadway, where the man was company's long distance headquarters, and out jumped a man, announcing he had had a telephone call to Havana, for which he insisted on paying. He did not leave his name.

third accomplice pulled him into the machine and escaped. No more was obtained by the robbers.

BROWNS OPEN FOURTH-PLACE SERIES WITH DETROIT CLUB TODAY

Davis Probably Will Hurl; Hargrave and Lamotte Star In Victory Over White Sox

Catcher Obtained From Senators Accounts for Seven Runs With Two Homers, While Shortstop Gets Four Safeties and Fields in Great Style.

By Herman Weckle.
Having won three out of four from Chicago, the Browns today will make an effort to continue on their winning ways against the Detroit Tigers. Cobb's men open a series of four battles, morning and afternoon tilts being scheduled for tomorrow. Those Tigers in recent weeks have acted up like a real ball club and right now they are traveling along in front of the Browns.

Frank Dixie Davis, who stopped Cobb's men in Detroit, will probably be the Browns' hurling nominee. The right hander appeared only as a relief pitcher in the White Sox clashes. Earl Whitehill, southpaw, is due to work for Cobb.

The series will be a battle for fourth position, a place now held by Detroit. Cobb's outfit is one game ahead of the Browns. Three out of four will put the locals in the first division. A victory for the Browns in the opener will tie the two clubs.

Two Homers for Hargrave. There is a possibility that Ty Cobb, manager of the Jungeaters, will be missing. He wrenched his leg in a game at Cleveland and was forced to retire.

Two of the Browns' younger players started in the 15 to 5 conquest over the Sox in the series final. They were "Red" Hargrave, the catcher recently obtained from Washington and Bob Lamotte at short.

Hargrave showed that he can hit. Twice he drove out runs good for four sacks. One of these came off collegian Freeze with three mates on the runways. Then in the eighth against Blankenship, he hoisted on a Grand boulevard, with two men on the bases. Thus with those two sacks he was responsible for seven runs, more than enough to win.

Four Hits for Lamotte. Lamotte starred both at bat and in the field, in spite of the fact that he was playing with an injured foot, received when he was spiked in Wednesday's game. As a result the former Memphis star had the front of his shoe cut off. At the plate Lamotte pounded off three doubles and a single. He drove in three runs and scored a like number. In the field he handled seven chances and twice ran to the left side of second base to grab grounders and retire his men at first base. It was a fine exhibition of short fielding.

Those Browns were in a hitting mood. They started on Charles Robertson, who once hurled a no-hit game, continued against Freeze and finished up on Blankenship. Robertson pitched less than two innings, but the Browns scored eight runs off him. In the first Williams hit his seventeenth four-bagger of the year with Slatter in the lead. The Browns led 10 to 0. They also heated along by bases on balls and an error by Ike Davis.

Milton Gaston opened for Slatter. He started availing in the third and Elam Vangilder finished. Elam was easy to hit, but hard to score upon. He worked seven good rounds, so was credited with the victory.

Greb Easily Beats Walker; Wills Kayoes Weinert and Shade "Stops" Slattery

Middleweight Champion Outclasses Challenger, but Lighter Foe Proves Game and Lasts 15 Rounds; Weinert No Match for the Negro—Towel Saves Slattery From K. O.

By Hype Igoe,
Of the New York World Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Mickey Walker wears but a single boxing crown. He failed in his quest for a second title before a roaring throng of over 40,000 men and women at the Polo Grounds, last night, in the windup of the Italian Hospital Fund boxing carnival.

Harry Greb not only retained his middleweight championship, but easily outpointed the world's welterweight champion and gave him a severe drubbing to boot in 15 rounds. There was no booring of the decision when Greb was ruled the winner.

This was the climax to a sensational evening of boxing. Harry Wills knocked out Charley Weinert in the second round of their 15-round bout. A right hand drive to the point of the jaw put Weinert down for the full count. He heard the doleful "ten" chanted over him as he sprawled on his hands and knees, gasping for breath.

The great shock of the night, however, was the unexpected knockout, scored by Dave Shade over Jimmy Slattery, 162 lb. Slattery's seconds hailing in the "wonder" of Buffalo, Shade broke through the defense of "Slats" and crumpled him with a right to the jaw. Slattery went down three times in all.

As he crawled to his feet after a third down, Slattery tried to straighten up, but he was whipped to the core. He was dazed and sure prey for the next punch. Shade was ready for his chin. He landed a right hand to the jaw, and Slattery went down for the third time.

Towel Saves Slattery From K. O. As he blinked at Shade, the towel came floating through the air from his corner. Paul Carr, his manager, having shied it into the ring to save the brave fellow.

Slattery wanted to continue and fight, but he had to be dragged him to his corner to tell him that he had been floored for the first time in his life and an "out" knocked out besides.

Joe Lynch and Jack Sharkey, old ring enemies, fought a four-round draw in the opening bout of the evening.

One of the greatest crowds that ever stormed the Polo Grounds sat in on the carnival. For the first time in the history of the grounds welter title.

Walker proved himself the complete master of Walker, although only seven pounds separated the men at weighing-in time in the afternoon. Probably Greb weighed 160 pounds more than Walker at ringside.

Walker Near Knockout. For 12 rounds Greb bruised and mauled Walker, outpointing him every step of the way and punishing him savagely besides. Then in the thirteenth he began to cut loose. Early in the fourteenth he landed a right hand to the jaw and a left to the stomach and it was over. Walker went down and he was out for the count.

Chandler couldn't get his hands up for what was coming, and that was the right as straight and as hard as any that ever was delivered in the ring. It caught Walker flush on the point, and he went down backward like a giant of the forests—and as flat, too. When he did get to his feet he was gasping for breath, and he was out for the count.

Slattery's defeat came in the nature of a tragedy, though the best man won last night. Shade fought him wasn't equal to the sample. Wills passed out. The punch that really finished him came just before the right to the jaw that leveled him on the floor. It was a hard left to the stomach and it took the fight and ambition out of Weinert, then and there.

Hennessey and Casey in Final At Wimbledon

Meet Borotra and Lacoste for Title Tomorrow—Mile. Lenglen Wins.

By the Associated Press.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 3.—Ray Casey of San Francisco and John Hennessey of Indianapolis today went into the doubles finals of the all-England tennis tournament by defeating Cochet and Brugnon of France in the semifinals, 7-5, 6-7, 9-7, 6-4.

The Americans will oppose Jean Borotra and Rene Lacoste in the final tomorrow.

Mile. Suzanne Lenglen of France won her sixth Wimbledon women's tennis championship today, defeating the English girl champion, Joan Fry, 6-2, 6-0, in the final.

The young English girl, who rose from tennis obscurity to a place in the final during her first Wimbledon competition, stormed Mile. Lenglen's racket without avail.

By taking two games, she equaled Miss Elizabeth Ryan's score in the second round and did better than Miss Kathleen McKane, English champion, against Mile. Lenglen in their match this week.

In the semifinals of the women's doubles Mile. Suzanne Lenglen and Miss American partner, Miss Elizabeth Ryan, defeated Mrs. Beamish and Miss E. R. Clarke, 6-0, 6-2.

Kennett Lions Win.

MALDEN, Mass., July 3.—The Kennett Lions baseball team defeated the Malden Lions by a score of 18 to 4 here yesterday. Peterson, pitcher for Kennett, is a former member of the St. Louis League.

Shade had his man wound desperately and he timed the third knock down punch nicely, shifting his attack to a left hook that almost tore Jimmy's under jaw away. He fell limply against the ropes, and it was over. He did get up but it was the end. The towel was a merciful messenger of surrender, though Slattery had no part in its being shed. He wanted to fight, even when he was through.

MODERNISTS WIN TWO VICTORIES IN BAPTIST MEETING

Northern Convention Declines to Unseat Delegates From Fosdick's Church

By the Associated Press. SEATTLE, Wash., July 3.—Modernists won two victories in sessions of the Northern Baptist convention here yesterday.

Fundamentalists who sought to prevent delegates from the Park Avenue Baptist Church of New York from being seated were defeated, 912 to 364. A resolution asking the recall of modernist missionaries from foreign fields was voted down, 742 to 374.

The Park Avenue Baptist Church is the one that rejected Harry E. Fosdick, modernist, to the pastorate. Formation of a new Baptist Foreign Mission Society was urged in a resolution adopted at a mass meeting of fundamentalists following the session of the convention, in which modernists were victorious.

In rejecting the missionary resolution, which was introduced by Dr. W. B. Hinson of Portland, Ore., the convention contented itself with adopting a report of an investigating committee recommending to the Mission Board to take such conservative action as it will deem proper in the face of official returns by 3129 votes. The investigating committee's recommendation followed a year's study of foreign mission fields and declared reports of mismanagement and heresy among foreign missionaries unfounded.

Edwin H. Rhoades Jr., attorney of Toledo, O., was named for president of the convention in the report of the Nominating Committee read before the convention. The retiring president, Carl Miliken, former Governor of Maine, was named for president of the Foreign Mission Society. The Rev. William C. Blitting, St. Louis, was nominated for corresponding secretary.

Nomination for principal officers in subsidiary organizations included American Baptist Foreign Mission Society; first vice president, The Rev. Charles Alvin Brooks, Illinois.

Woman's American Baptist Home Mission Society, President, Mrs. George W. Coleman, Massachusetts.

The American Baptist Publication Society, President, Allan T. Fuller, Massachusetts.

POLICE ARE WARNED AGAINST INDISCRIMINATE ARRESTS

Judge Falkenhainer Makes Statement in Dismissing Gambling Raid Injunction Suit.

The police were warned against indiscriminate arrests in their campaign against gambling today by Circuit Judge Falkenhainer in approving the dismissal of an injunction suit brought by Ralph B. Drury to prevent the police from raiding his cigar store at 310 Olive street.

A temporary restraining order had been issued when the suit was filed, May 28, alleging that the police were making repeated raids on the store on the claim that a handbook was operated there.

Drury's lawyer, Harry W. Blodgett, told the court today that he was dismissing the suit because the police had assured him customers wouldn't be arrested in the store indiscriminately.

Judge Falkenhainer made his statement in Chief of Detectives Kaiser and a number of policemen who were present. Assistant City Counselor Bader declared that indiscriminate arrests had not been made intentionally.

Reports yesterday were that the transaction had been put through. John Hertz, founder of Yellow Cab Manufacturing Co., and associated taxicab companies, returned from New York today, and although refusing to mention the merger reports, in reply to questions, said: "I make no statement because no deal has been completed. I have no right to say that a deal is pending."

ACCIDENT VERDICT RETURNED IN CASE OF GIRL HIT BY AUTO

Felice Boedeker, 7, Absolved Driver of Blame Before She Died

A coroner's verdict of accident was returned today at the inquest into the death of Felice Boedeker, 7 years old, of 1536 Benton street, which resulted from injuries suffered Wednesday night when she was struck by an automobile while going on an errand for her mother.

Felice was struck at 6:45 p. m. in front of 2421 North Fifteenth street by an automobile driven by Lawrence Dauby, 33, a painting contractor, 1439 N. Market street, who was driving south in Fifteenth street. Testimony at the inquest that the child told physicians at the city hospital that she had darted from the sidewalk into the path of the automobile absolved Dauby of blame.

Fred Recker, 35 years old, of 818 Clinton street, proprietor of a grocery at 2125 North Broadway, is at city hospital with severe powder burns on both eyes, which may cause the loss of his sight, as the result of the explosion of a two-foot firecracker which he set off at 9:30 a. m. today, in a premature observance of the Fourth of July. Recker lit the firecracker with a burning cigar, and the explosion occurred before he could toss the thing away.

RECEIVER SOUGHT FOR THE ST. LOUIS REALTY FINANCE CO.

Director and Stockholder Objects to Land Deal About to Be Consummated by Concern

A receiver for the St. Louis Realty Finance Co. was asked for yesterday by O. G. Stark, a director and stockholder, in a petition filed in the Circuit Court. He alleged mismanagement and asserts that majority of the board of directors is about to consummate a land exchange with a 1000-acre farm owned by it in Arkansas for property at Twenty-third street and Cass avenue. The trade, it is alleged, if carried out would prove detrimental to the corporation.

The petition names the company as defendant in addition to some of its officers, including Frank L. Dittmeyer, H. R. Steiker, president; John H. Feekster and Thomas Foley, Beulah Watson, Leonard Ford and Charles Klent appear as co-defendants with Stark.

Several months ago other litigation over affairs of the company was instituted as a result of disagreement between Stark and Dittmeyer.

WALSH ANALYZES
DOHENY'S STORY OF OIL LEASESIt Makes Clear That Contract Was Not Made to Prevent Loss by Drainage.STORY CONFLICTS WITH THAT OF DENBYSenator Wonders What Hughes Will Say About Statement Cabinet Discussed Transfer Order.Lead Wire From the New Bureau of the Post-Dispatch, NEW YORK, July 3.—Senator James J. Walsh of Montana, who was the chief part in the Senate investigation of the oil scandals, analyzed Edward L. Doheny's story in the New York Times of his part in the matter.The Senator declared yesterday that in two respects in particular Doheny's version is of vital public importance.The first, he said, was Doheny's statement that the question of transferring control of the naval oil reserves was discussed at two cabinet meetings; and the second was the affirmation that the Elk Island lease of Dec. 12, 1922, was not made because it was necessary to prevent loss of oil through drainage by nearby wells.In reply to Doheny's allegation that certain important documents concerning information favorable to the Secretary of the Interior had mysteriously disappeared from the files of the Interior Department after the files had been inspected by persons in the employ of the Senate committee, and that these documents had not been made a part of the records, Senator Walsh said:"I can't believe Mr. Doheny intended to intimate that the committee secreted any documents, letters or telegrams. It seems probably likely that if the committee was in any way responsible for the disappearance of any such documents, they would be found in the office of the Comptroller-General (where Doheny said his Gen. Council obtained copies of them).

Inspection of Files Made.

After the Department of the Interior had been directed to send the committee all papers in relation to the leases of the oil reserves, and a cart load had been shipped up to it, information came that there were others still in the Department of more or less importance.I secured an order from the committee authorizing my clerk to make an inspection of the files, as a result of which some letters of vital consequence were se-With reference to Doheny's statements in general, the Senator said:"There are two features of Mr.
Doheny's interview that ought to be taken more than usual public interest in.In the first place, Mr. Doheny has been the subject of the extensive order transferring the control of the oil reserves from the navy to the Interior Department was discussed in at least two cabinet meetings, at which Secretary Doheny expressed his desire to have the transfer made. It is specifically stated in the Doheny interview that Secretary Denby inquired of the Attorney-General whether the lease legally devolved upon the Secretary of the Interior, to which Attorney-General Daugherty re-certainly.

According to Denby's testimony, the source of Mr. Doheny's information on the subject is not known, but presumably it came from Secretary Denby, although it is inconsistent with the testimony given by that gentleman before the Senate Lands Committee.According to my recollection, Secretary Hughes, and Secretary Doheny at least were asked if the subject was ever considered at a cabinet meeting. Both replied it was not, or at least, that neither of them had any recollection of such an event. It will be interesting to learn what they have to say about the matter in view of the Doheny statement.The responsibility for the extensive order is shared by every member of the cabinet.Baseball in Capital of the Post-Dispatch.WASHINGTON, July 3.—Coolidge and his economies, the tax question; Santa Barbara; the latest "drive" for prohibition reform; Washington isn't thinking deeply about any of these things.

The one great and intriguing topic is baseball. For the Senators—as baseball writers outside the capital persist in misnaming them—are again on top of the world; they were there, at least, on the fateful thirtieth of June, just as the president Buckley Harris predicted they would be.Will it be then, to the voteless 450,000 whether the next tax bill will slash the upper or the lower brackets, or whether the doughty Gen. Andrews succeeds in making America dry? What matters anything, if Washington wins another pennant?

Hughes Hitting With Joy.

The city here itself with the joy of its vicarious triumph over the rest of the land. And the joy is all the sweeter because Washington, until that happy day last summer when the Senators started their climb to fame, had practically no civic interest in common with its sister cities.With Denver and Duluth, St.
Louis and Sacramento, the city could discuss the traffic problem, the price of booze and the service rendered by realtors—and that was about all. The team—set it with a capital, compositior—was so low down in the standing that nobody was willing to claim it as a distinctive Washington possession, we said in those drab days, with an air of unconcern, that the baseball club really belonged to the whole country, like the Capitol Building, the Washington Monument and Senator Borah.Of course, there was Walter Johnson; he had been here for some score of years, and he was ours. But the club itself—that was just an aggregation of professional ball players who were no more representative of Washington than of Philadelphia.

A Different Attitude.

So we said, as late as the for-part of 1924. We know now that we were dead wrong. Harris and his sterling band of athletes—he fled McNeely, the slugging Goose, the brilliant Babe, the conqueror Coveleskie, the peerless Peck-inpaw, game little "Muddy" Ruel, the incomparable Johnson and the rest of them—they belong to Washington. Claim an interest, if you will, in the franchise, the Dawes plan to reform the customers, and the leafy boulevards of Washington; claim even the whole world, but don't, if you value your life, dispute the title of Washington to exclusive possession of the"This is in entire harmony with the testimony of Admiral Robison before the committee. The lease was then given the lease, which became the entire reserve, that there might be oil enough accruing to the Government to meet the obligations incurred by the construction of the tanks as they were being constructed."

Lease Not Due to Drainage.

"This effectively disposes of the contention that the Doheny lease of Dec. 12, 1922 (that is the lease which covered practically the entire reserve), was made because the reserve was being drained by nearby wells. It is specifically stated in the Doheny interview that Secretary Denby inquired of the Attorney-General whether the lease legally devolved upon the Secretary of the Interior, to which Attorney-General Daugherty replied 'certainly.'"According to Denby's testimony, the source of Mr. Doheny's in-
Senate Lands Committee.According to my recollection,
Doheny at least were asked if the
member of the cabinet.According to the testimony of and we are theirs. They have given Washington, at least, a Main Street.

You in St. Louis are welcome to their hitting streaks and the home runs of Hornsby; we have the sweet music of the ash against the ball as Goslin clouts his triples.
You, in Detroit, the delight of seeing the frankish Cobb rattle the opposition; ours the delicious joy of watching the enemy twirler throw the ball away while the capitol

You, in Cleveland, take pride in the wide-ranging fielding of Speaker; we sing the shoestring catches of McNeely. You, in Chicago, have the glowing reality of Peck to Harris to judge.Politics? Who cares about politics when the box score shows that the Goose is hitting 'em high, wide and handsome? Who cares to read about the foreign debt when the papers spread before him the heart-warming details of Walter Johnson's two-hit victory over the pesky Athletics? Who will peruse the story of Mr. Coolidge's day at Swampscott when he can feast his soul on the inning-by-inning account of the great doing at Griffith Field? What chance has the Spot Dome, as a news story, when the fact that Joe Judge raced backward fully 20 paces to spear a twisting foul with one hand?

Big Crowds at Series.

The recent series with Philadelphia, which ended with Washington half a game in the lead, brought out a crowd of from 22-000 to 30,000 for each of the three games played here. Two of the games were on Monday and Tuesday nights, it means a lot of "conference" beginning at about 9 p. m., and extending through the rest of the afternoon.The sense of proprietorship in the winning Washington club has brought the capital into the sister-city. It is used to have nothing to match against the automobile factories of Detroit, the ship plants of St. Louis or the skyscrapers of New York. It was just the Federal city, belonging to the country, the capital of the nation, and a committee of the city has a civic asset of its very own it can slap you on the back. Babbit-wise, and talk the genuine American language.If the voteless 450,000 were endowed with the franchise, the choice for Mayor at the present moment, would undoubtedly rest between Bucky Harris and the Old Master of the Mound.WHITE HOUSE RESTORATION PLANS CALL FORTH PROTESTArchitects Institute Opposes Substituting Colonial Period Furniture for McKim Appointments.Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, July 3.—R. T.
H. Halsey of Long Island, who is to superintend the work of restoring the interior of the White House in Colonial style, is expected here today or tomorrow. Actual work, however, probably will not get under way until some time in the fall.Meanwhile, the American Institute of Architects is protesting against the restoration plans, which have been drafted by Col. C. O.
Sherrill, former aid to the President, and a committee of leading architects and interior decorators authorized by Congress.The executive secretary of the American Institute has requested, in a letter to President Coolidge, that the institute be consulted before any radical alterations in the interior of the White House are made. No reply has been received.Mr. Coolidge, it is reported, approves the restoration plan.
The plan is to substitute Colonial period furniture, with rugs, hangings and other fittings in harmony, for the French Empire appointments provided by the late Charles F. McKim, who supervised the $500,000 restoration during the Roosevelt administration.Supporting the protests of the Institute of Architects, it is said, are former associates of McKim.
They are reported to have appealed to Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, as well as to Mrs. Frances Folsom Preston of Princeton, N. J., widow of former President Cleveland.Robert W. de Forest, head of the Metropolitan Museum of New York, is said to have fathered the plan of restoration. The committee authorized by Congress has an appropriation of only $50,000. It was authorized to accept gifts of early American furniture, but so far it has received nothing but requests that it purchase rare specimens.COOLIDGE FAVORS MODERATE TAX CUTWould Limit Reduction So as to Continue to Retire Public Debt.Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 3.— In formulating his tax legislation policy President Coolidge has cast in favor of a moderate downward revision of income tax rates rather than a spectacular tax reduction, which might leave the Treasury with a deficit or prevent continued retirement by large amounts of the public debt.His attitude became clear here following publication in Washington of Secretary Mellon's analysis of Federal receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year just closed.
Mellon pointed out that the $250,505,000 surplus accumulated expectedly had been applied in full to public debt reduction. Many of the surplus had been counting on this amount to make up half of the $500,000,000 income tax reduction they were planning for their constituents next winter.It is intimated by those close to the President here that he is much in favor of the surprise surplus plan of ending up the fiscal year in favor of the Treasury. For this reason he is expected to demand scientific rather than wholesale revenue reduction to the next Congress in an amount ranging from $250,000,000 to $500,000, 000.

Debt Reduction a Hobby.

There are two reasons for this course. The first is that the Treasury has made its estimate of a $250,000,000 surplus for the current fiscal year, and the second is that the Treasury is known here, that the cutting down the debt is one of his present hobbies. It saves interest and reduces the interest rate. Budget Director Lord has explained that there is very little opportunity to reduce further the costs of operating the Government.
The other reason is that he believed to actuate the President is that the administration can be served better by a larger tax reduction bill in two years than next winter. This would place it just before the next presidential campaign.Mr. Coolidge has mapped out a program which calls for sharp public debt reductions and a gradual withdrawal of the Federal Government from state subsidies.
If business conditions remain good and there is a continued large increase in the national income, the results of this program may evidence themselves in time for a second tax reduction bill during his present term.

To Support Treasury.

Congress may be anxious for a large tax cut this winter, but Mr.
Coolidge is expected to stand behind the treasury, which has already informally expressed itself as opposed to reductions in any amount larger than the $250,000, 000 estimate for 1925.The President, it is understood, is gradually becoming convinced that sentiment in the next Congress will be hostile to dropping estate taxes.His course probably will be to suggest that Congress investigate the possibility of dropping inheritance tax later on and at the same time consider the question of whether the state might be induced to retire from the income tax field.GERMANY PUTS PROHIBITIVE prohibitive duties on Poland's main agricultural and industrial exports.The modus vivendi governing trade relations between Poland and Germany expired on April 1, and no steps have been taken for its mercial treaty were begun last autumn, but they were abandoned.

TOURISTS' TAX REINSTATED

French Deputies Boost Rate Over Senate Reduction.By the Associated Press.
PARIS, July 3.—The tax of 200 francs, a little less than $10 at the present exchange, on foreign tourists remaining for more than a month in France, was reinstated yesterday in the budget by the Chamber of Deputies. Numerous comments were made by the Deputies on the ease with which Anglo-Saxons, with their high exchange, could contribute to France's heavy outlay for police supervision of foreigners.The Senate had reduced the tax to 65 francs, but the Chamber adhered to the original plan. The charge, if finally ratified by the Senate, will cover a two-year card of identification. Foreign labor will get very much reduced rates.WHY MACMILLAN FAILED TO REACH POLEFeet Frozen, He Was Unable to Make Final Stretch When With Peary in 1908.By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 3.—An indelible spirit of optimism, together with a confidence in himself which has its reaction in all members of his party, are characteristics which have brought Donald B. MacMillan through many a "jam," ice and otherwise, and which figure strongly in obtaining for him two modern assets to his present Arctic expedition—airplanes and radio.These qualities, supplemented with knowledge and experience of a region in which he has explored for 17 years, first impressed Mac-Millan's chief of radio, Eugene F.
McDonald Jr., who also on this trip is second in command and in charge of the Peary, one of the two ships. When McDonald had been "sold," he went with MacMillan through official Washington in quest of air-service co-operation, resulting in Secretary Wilbur assigning three planes and personnel and approving the expedition for its "sound, safe planning."MacMillan is a professor of onthology at Bowdoin College, his alma mater, on leave of absence.
It was at Bowdoin, where he figured 17 cents a day was sufficient to live on while he educated himself, that he first came in contact with Admiral Peary, of whom he is a great student and admirer.
MacMillan was with the Peary expedition in 1908 which discovered the North Pole, solely because of their college association. MacMillan's first ship on his own account was purchased with funds raised by his college chums and was named the Peary. MacMillan is unmarried.

Son of Sea Captain.

When Peary discovered the pole, MacMillan was left behind on the final dash because his feet were frozen and the warmth from Peary's naked chest had failed to thaw them. MacMillan had neglected to line his boots with grass. On two nights, Peary opened his garments and slept with Mac-Millan's feet on his chest. But if MacMillan had not been so close to him, he would have been frozen.
MacMillan is a man described as of physical perfection and of an exceptional ability in relations with the Eskimos. Peary to this day is the only white man to have visited the pole.MacMillan became a Lieutenant commander in the United States Naval Reserve on last Feb. 17, shortly after becoming 51 years of age. He was born the son of a sea captain in Provincetown, Mass. He later became an orphan and was reared by a strange family. He was graduated from Bowdoin in 1898 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Much of his revenue came from employment in summer hotels, doing every sort of job.

Income From Lectures.

After the memorable trip with Peary in 1908-09, MacMillan made a second trip to Northern Labrador in 1910, to which he again returned in 1911 and 1912. Bowdoin College in 1910 honored him with a degree of Master of Arts.In 1912 he headed the Crocker land expedition, intending to be in the Arctic one year. He returned four years later. It was on this expedition that he proved his generalship as an Arctic explorer, when, short of provisions, he fed his men for nearly three years on the food of the Eskimo and brought his men out in better condition than when they started.Bowdoin College tendered Mac-Millan the degree of Doctor of Science in 1918. He headed the Hudson Bay expedition in 1920, the Baffin land expedition in 1921 and 1922, and the North Greenland expedition during 1923 and 1924.His present expedition, the most elaborately planned of them all, will return to civilization somewhere around Oct. 1, if these plans are not upset. It was made possible financially by the aid of the National Geographic Society and the United States Navy, under which title the exploration is being made. MacMillan's only source of income is from his pictures and lectures, which heretofore has always been reinvested in another polar trip.ELECTRIC REFRIGERATING FIRMS tions are under way between New York and Detroit banking interest-es and manufacturers of commercial and household electrical refrigerating machines, which would include the Kelvinator Corporation, Nizer Corporation and another manufacturing company, which sells chiefly through public utility companies. Net earnings of the proposed consolidation are now about $5,000,000 annually.Since the first of the year, the companies involved in the amalgamation have shown a large increase in earning power. Kelvinator's net earnings jumped from $30,000 in January, to about $200,000 in June, and Nizer showed an increase from $25,000 to $250,000 in the same period.

Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.SCRANTON, Pa., July 3.—An average increase of approximately 22 per cent for the 154-60 men in the industry, the check-off, payment by the long ton, 2240 pounds, rather than the miner's ton of 2136 pounds, a five-day week and a two-year contract as demanded by the anthracite miners' convention.
These demands will be presented to the Anthracite Operators' Association in Atlantic City July 5, and be followed, ultimately, by a suspension of mining, according to Andrew Mattey, president of the Hazen district, who, in the closing hour of the convention yesterday, told the delegates to prepare for a shutdown on Aug. 31.

Object of 5-Day Week.

The purpose of the demand for a five-day week is to permit the working of the usual average number of days per year and to eliminate "the haphazard system of enforced idleness on different days, as is now the practice."The convention named a scale committee to act with International President Lewis, International Vice President Murray and Secretary-Treasurer Kennedy in presents the demands to the operators. This committee may submit an agreement reached to a referendum vote or to a tri-district convention as it deems best.

Free Tools Demanded.

As adopted, the scale calls for a flat 10 per cent increase to all tonnage men and $1 for all the men, the equivalent in the latter case of 2175 per cent. For the tonnage men, free air, in many localities equal to an increase of 5 per cent, and pay for much work now done as part of the contract price is asked for, as is the supply of all tools, hammers and little tools.The scale also recommends the establishment of the seniority system, under which the older men shall be the last to be laid off and the first to return to work, and asks that in dull times there be an equal distribution of work throughout the industry of all collieries.President Lewis warned the delegates against adverse criticism of the scale or the efforts of the Scale Committee outside their union rooms, declaring that such comment becomes known to the operators, who are "used to hamstring your representatives.""After your union has taken a position," said he, "that position becomes the position of all and the only place to express opinions is in your meeting rooms."

Should Be Obtained for Payment.By the Associated Press.
PARIS, July 3.—The Council of Ministers today approved a plan to send a French debt commission to the United States this summer.A prevailing view in France is that negotiations for settlement of the debts to the United States and Great Britain should be initiated with the least possible delay.The Ambassador in Washington, having been instructed to inform the American Government that France is disposed to send a commission for discussion of the question, tentative plans for the composition of this body are already under way. The mission will depart at the end of the summer, the view being that no useful purpose could be served by an earlier trip as it is known that the American Debt Funding Commission is occupied with several other European debtors.M. Caillaux, the Finance Minister, is not likely to head the mission, although he would like to do so. The names of several prominent financiers are mentioned in his stead, among them Robert Masson, acting head of the Credit Lyonnais.It is also realized that speedy funding is the only way to obtain favorable terms. In this connection, the Petit Parisien says France is entitled to hope to obtain from America, a maximum rate of two per cent, a moratorium of several years, and a time limit of 70 or 80 years in which to extinguish the debt.The French Ambassador called on Mellon in compliance with earlier instructions from the Paris Foreign Office.It is not believed by administration officials here that the action of Austria in Chamberlain's Foreign Secretary, in notifying the French Ambassador in London that the time is opportune for France to make an offer for settlement of her debt to Britain will have any effect upon the Franco-American negotiations.

LOUISIANA TALKS ON JUNIUS LETTERS

Attorney Tells Texas Bar That Edmund Burke Had Ability to Write Them.

ST. LOUIS, Tex., July 3.—The identity of the author of the Junius letters remains a mystery after a century and a half, but Edmund Burke, the great English statesman, at least possessed the literary ability and talents to have written these matchless letters, according to J. White of St. Louis, attorney and general solicitor of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, told the Texas State Bar Association last night.

"Burke has been written in the history of the world as a half," White said, "concerning the identity of the author of the Junius letters, which appeared in Woodfall's London Advertiser from 1769 to 1790, but while the letters have been read and reread, like songs, they have never been identified with the author, his identity continuing to be one of the unsolved riddles of the world's literature."

Referring to the "fearless utterance" of Junius against corruption and favoritism in government, White said:

"No one at this remote period, could estimate the effect of the publication of these letters, in fanning the flame of the smoldering fires of revolution in France and America. It was a singular fact that the speaker at different times had advanced to the Junius letters were written by less than 23 different men. The critic concluded they were written by a small coterie of individuals. Among those for whom the strongest claims are made are George Sackville, the Duke of Chatham, Sir Philip Francis and Edmund Burke.

Burke, at the time, was generally believed to have been the author of the letters, although he denied it. Edmund Burke has never had a quarrel in the vigor of his style, a writer, except Junius," said White. "He differed upon many important subjects, but the same vigorous spirit and style and the same general views upon public affairs and measures of that day were shared by both. Both were equally learned and reasoners; both dealt their issues at the bar of principle; both were the same superb masters of English; both used sarcasm and invective.

"Without concluding that Burke wrote the letters of Junius, for the very nature of the case, one can, at this late date, solve the mystery, it can fairly be advanced that, of all other claimants, the man to whom this distinction has been accorded, he at least, possessed the literary ability and talent to have written these matchless letters."

TARIFF COMMISSION POLITICS.
From the Nation.
TWO vacancies in the United States Tariff Commission are about to be filled by President Coolidge. They were caused by the appointment of Vice Chairman William S. Culbertson as Minister to Rumania and the more recent resignation of William Burgess. Both are Republicans. Under the act creating the body, nonpartisanship was to be assured by the requirement that not more than three of the Commissioners were to be members of the same political party. It was clearly illegal, therefore, for Mr. Culbertson to appoint to the vacancies occurred there were four Republican members. Chairman Thomas C. Marvin, Edward P. Costigan, and the two whose posts are now unoccupied. The only Democrats are Henry H. Glasie and Alfred P. Dennis. That four were Republicans presumably was due to the rating of Mr. Costigan, when President Wilson appointed him in 1917, as a Progressive. But before helping to found the Progressive party in Colorado Mr. Costigan had run for office on the Republican ticket, and he is now a Republican. It was clearly illegal, therefore, for Mr. Coolidge to attempt to appoint Republicans to both the existing vacancies. The Senate must pass on his selections, and it is reasonable to assume that even within the Republican ranks there will be decisive opposition if any effort is made to thwart the law.

LEAVING IT TO AMATEURS.
From the Oklahoma City Oklahoman.
INSEPARABLE from our system of government is the evil of amateur direction. Most of those inducted into public office are of few days officially. About the time they have mastered the intricacies of government and learned how to administer government efficiently, a new deal is ordered by the electorate and another set of amateurs are elected to guard. It has ever been thus with our American system and probably it will continue to be so for many years. It is entirely different with real business concerns, conducted on real business lines. The more proficient an employee of business becomes the tighter the company holds on to him and the more it pays him. He becomes a permanent fixture just as soon as he becomes master of his job. But regardless of the proficiency of the public servant he must vacate his position when the public orders a change. Political upheavals and the principle of official rotation insure continual government by amateurs.

BEAUTIFYING RAILROAD YARDS.
From the Jersey City Journal.
A RAILROAD yard is not a pretty thing. On a hot day there is no place hotter. On a windy day there is no place dustier and the dust is a black, sooty element. At any time it is not a scene where any prospect pleases. That is the old-time railroad yard. Now a new idea has taken hold. The Pennsylvania Railroad has adopted it. Out at Manhattan Transfer in the yards and along the tracks leading to the station, green trees have been set out. Hiding the ordinary ugliness of a railroad yard, they have improved the appearance of the grounds around the station by 1000 per cent. There are numerous points along every railroad where similar improvement could be made.

Children's Bedtime Story By Thornton W. Burgess

Peter Rabbit Overhears Some Talk

Be careful when and how you speak; Your secrets then will never leak. —Peter Rabbit.

PETER RABBIT was sitting under his favorite bramble bush in the dear Old Briar Patch preparing to take a nap after having been out all night. He was just dozing off when he heard voices that made his eyes fly wide open and his long ears stand up straight. He knew those voices. He knew them the very instant he heard them, even though he was half asleep. They were the voices of Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy.

"I wonder if they could be talking about Digger the Badger"

Peter peeked out. Reddy and Mrs. Reddy were sitting back to him, just outside the edge of the dear Old Briar Patch, and they were looking over toward the Old Pasture. "It looks as if he means to stay," said Mrs. Reddy. Reddy nodded. "It does look that way," said he. "I don't know what the Old Pasture is coming to. It was bad enough to have Old Man Coyote make his home there. With this fellow digging around, the Old Pasture is simply going to be spoiled. The hunting will be spoiled there."

"Well, thank goodness we moved our home from there before this happened," replied Mrs. Reddy. "I don't mind some people for neighbors, but I don't want that sand-thrasher living too near me." You should have seen Peter's ears go up at this. "Sand-thrasher," he muttered to himself. "Sand-thrasher. I wonder if they could be talking about Digger the Badger? I would like to ask them, but they wouldn't tell me if I did. I wonder if it could be that Digger has moved up to the Old Pasture. That is one place where I haven't looked. I never feel real comfortable over there on account of Old Man Coyote. However, I think I'll go over there the very first chance I get." Then Peter once more strained his ears to overhear what Reddy and Mrs. Reddy were saying.

"That fellow ought to be sent back where he came from," grumbled Reddy. "Just as if we didn't have trouble enough in getting enough to eat without having somebody who doesn't belong here at all settle in the neighborhood. I would like to know how he got here. They tell me that he really belongs out where Old Man Coyote came from."

Peter hugged himself. He hadn't a doubt now. It must be Digger about whom they were talking. "It couldn't be anyone else. Digger was alive after all, and he was living in the Old Pasture. Peter was as sure of it as if Digger had been mentioned by name.

"It used to be easy enough to get all the Meadow Mice and Wood Mice a fellow wanted before Old Man Coyote and Digger Badger came. Now there are not enough Mice to go round," grumbled Reddy. "Sometimes I feel like moving away off somewhere."

"That would be a silly thing to do," declared Mrs. Reddy. "If we are not smart enough to get our share, we deserve to go without. I wonder what Digger left the Green Meadows for anyway. I thought he was settled down there for life. I never did like him, and I never will. I think he has a mean disposition."

"People who live by themselves are apt to have mean dispositions," declared Reddy. "I don't like him, I never did like him, and I never will like him, but I don't know what I can do about it. That fellow has sharp teeth and stout jaws and claws to go with his mean disposition. The less I see of him the better it will suit me."

A World-Wide Pilgrimage After Truth By WINIFRED BLACK

LOUIS F. KRAMER is the name of a hopeful gentleman who has just set out on a hike around the world.

He's going to take 10 years' hiking and he is searching for "truth."

To every land he intends to go looking for "truth." To India and its purple shadows and its golden moons—to Russia, with its wild steppes and its great waste lands; to Germany and the vineyards along the rushing Rhine; to the pleasant country of France and its long white roads, bordered with the tall green poplar trees.

To Hungary he will go, where the gypsies live and where they dance their sarabands in the moonlight and play their strange music for the seduction of the human heart.

To Hawaii, the land of the hibiscus and the moon flower, he will go. I wonder if he will find the "truth" there among the brown natives with the wreaths of flowers around their black hair.

To Africa he will journey, to the strange mysterious cities of Morocco, with their white houses and their shadows of black velvet and the tall black men dressed in their strange garb of flowing robes.

To Persia, where the towers of silence send up the blue smoke from down till dark and from dark until dawn again.

To South America, where the wild horsemen ride over the great pampas, to Bolivia and Peru, to Buenos Aires and to Rio de Janeiro and the glorious bay.

To Italy he will go, this man who is looking for "truth." In and out of the dim old cathedrals he will wander like some gray ghost of the half-forgotten past.

Will he live among the Lazaroni in Naples, do you suppose, and will he climb to the hills of Piesole and see the olive orchards silver in the sunlight?

Will he mount the old tower of Galileo in Florence and will he wander by the dark stream where Dante mused?

To Spain he goes—will he see the Alhambra there and will he listen on summer evenings to the tinkling of the guitar and in what flashing smile will he find, do you think, the "truth" that he is seeking?

In the deep green dunes of Devon would he find it, or in the white cliffs of Dover? What is it he is seeking, really, do you suppose—this man who says he is hunting for the "truth?"

And when he finds it, how is he going to know it, will you tell me that?

Do you know the truth, do you? Does anyone on earth? Go on your wanderings," good

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Small Stocking Bill. Loops of tape may be sewn to the tops of baby's silk and wool stockings, and these loops used for the pins holding the stockings to the diaper. They prove a great protection to these expensive little stockings.

Shiny Faucets. Brass faucets in good condition give a well-kept appearance to the kitchen. They will clean beautifully with a flannel cloth dipped in vinegar. Then rub thoroughly with oil and rottenstone. Polish with a clean piece of flannel.

Those Razor Blades. Used razor blades are always a bother to get rid of, as we worry about someone going through the trash and receiving a nasty cut. Put them out with the ashes, not the trash. Or put them in a canny box, tie, and then put them in the trash.

Strong Buttonholes. If you find your buttonholes do not hold very well, try marking them with a pencil. Then run a line of machine stitching all around the pencil mark. Cut through the center and buttonhole over the machine stitching. It makes a splendid, firm buttonhole.

PHILOSOPHICAL PHRASINGS

Nothing is anything more unjust than an ignorant man, who thinks nothing done properly unless he himself has done it.—Terence.

There are few mortals so insensible that their affections cannot be gained by mildness, their corruptions by severity, their hatred by scorn or neglect.—Zimmerman.

The mind is not always in the same state; being at times cheerful, melancholy, severe, peevish. These different states may not improperly be denominated tones.—Lord Kames.

The Man on the Sandbox by L. Adams

THE PASSING SHOW.
THE dawn of a new day we greet With civic pride expanding, As, in the middle of the street,
We find no autos standing.
The traffic on Twelfth Boulevard Will now be unimpeded,
And, while on some it may be hard,
The change was greatly needed.

Tomorrow is an open date For all the evening papers.
And, so the day we'll celebrate With fireworks and capers.
So, for the ballpark we will scout,
In flannel suit and sandals,
And, in the evening we will shoot A flock of Roman candles.

Our livestock has been threatened By a poison weed called snakeroot.
Though we be short on wheat or rye Those weeds will always take root.
A remedy they're needing.
The cows, no doubt, would flourish if,
On milk-weed they were feeding.
Doheny says he bought the oil For patriotic reasons, And, not as some contend for spoil.
By stratagems and treasons.
The big idea was, he knew Of an impending battle, And, didn't have a thing to do With Albert Fall or cattle.

"Letter for Beethoven Arrives at Vienna." Must have been an adagio musical note.

Now, wouldn't it be just our luck To win the pennant the year before That new grandstand is completed?

See where the Cardinals released John Morgan to Quincy. Who is Morgan?
He's the bird the Cardinals released to Quincy.

In the Camorra trials in Italy the accused was kept in a cage. Wonder if they'll adopt that plan during the trial at Dayton, Tenn.

"African, in Golf Knickers, Parades Before Wales." He had probably read about the Prince going in for African golf during his last visit to this country.

"Central Europe Nursing Old Hatreds Offer Slight Hope for Peace." Boy, page a Red Cross nurse!
The man on the sandbox says June came in like a hot dog and went out like a polar bear.
July always comes in like a sky-rocket and goes out like a stick.
"Sheik Said and 21 Kurds Hanged for Rebellion." SHEIK SAID was hung.
No more among The Kurds he'll hold his sway;
For his last words,
They came in herds
To hear what Said would say.

WOMAN SITTING IN HOME KILLED BY STRAY BULLET

Stephanie Guerdan,
32, Dies Almost Instantly From Wound Below
Heart.

IDENTIFIED JULY 4 CELEBRANT BLAMED

Police Canvass Neighborhood but Find no Clues as to Why Fired Fatal Shot.

Miss Stephanie Guerdan, 32 years old, a milliner, was killed yesterday afternoon when struck as she sat in the dining room of her home at 3333 Iowa avenue by a stray bullet fired by a careless Fourth of July celebrant.

The bullet, steel-jacketed variety, pierced Miss Guerdan's left arm above the elbow, entered the left chest and ranged downward, reaching just below the heart. Death was almost instantaneous.

Police made a thorough canvass of the neighborhood immediately after the shooting but failed to obtain any clues as to who fired the shot.

Miss Guerdan was seated at a table near a screen door leading to back porch making a dress when she was shot at 1:20 p. m. A sister, Irma Guerdan, and her father, Frank E. Guerdan, were sitting on the back porch and the woman's stepmother was in the yard in the rear of the house.

Immediately after being shot she was taken to the bathroom where Irma, attracted by her screams, "I've been shot," found her bathing her wounds. A physician was summoned, but she was dead when he arrived.

Examination showed that the bullet went through the screen door before striking Miss Guerdan.
The shot was fired from some point west of the Guerdan flat, on the second floor.

SCOPES DENIES ATTEMPT TO TAKE CASE TO U. S. COURT Jury for Evolution Trial to Be Chosen From 50 Jurymen in County Court Monday.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 4.—John T. Scopes, defendant in the Tennessee evolution case, has signed a petition for an injunction seeking to remove the trial from state to federal courts, and he knew nothing of the proposed action until he read of it in a newspaper, he declared here tonight.

"I am leaving the legal aspects of the case entirely to my attorneys, and should they think it best for me to file such a petition I am willing to sign it," Scopes asserted.

A jury for the trial of John T.
Scopes on charges of violating the Tennessee law, prohibiting the teaching of evolution in public schools of the state, will be selected Monday at a regularly convened session of County Court. It became known here today. At the session 50 jurymen will be chosen from which the trial jury will be designated.

PUBLISHER LEAVES $9,500,000
Sir Edward Hulton Makes $5000 Gift to Church.

LONDON, July 4.—Sir Edward Hulton, former newspaper proprietor, who died May 23, left an estate of about £2,000,000 ($9,500,000).
The probate of his will reveals a Catholic church of Leatherhead, Surrey, where Sir Edward resided.
Sir Edward Hulton at one time owned the Evening Standard, the Daily Sketch and the Sunday Herald of London, the Daily Dispatch and the Evening Chronicle, of Manchester, and several other newspapers. He sold them in 1923 to Lord Beaverbrook and Lord Rothschild.

England Invaded by Mosquitoes.
LONDON, July 4.—Britain is getting not a little alarmed over a plague of mosquitoes, and demands are being made all over the country for concerted action by local authorities against the unwholesome insects. In some districts on the east coast of Britain it has been necessary to equip beds with mosquito netting. In other districts residents are already complaining bitterly of the insect which has been caused by mosquito bites.
